ABOUT WOMEN’S PHILANTHROPY FUND

WE’RE WOMEN WITH A MISSION

Members of the Women’s Philanthropy Fund (WPF) share a passion for Orange County United Way’s mission and a dedication to creating long-lasting social and economic change for women and children in local, challenged neighborhoods.

We’re doing more than ever before to fight for better education, financial independence, healthier lives and stable homes. We advocate. We invest in life-changing programs and services. And we take action with innovative new strategies like our Impact Hubs—place-based initiatives that fulfill our mission and improve the future for everyone.

DOING MORE WITH IMPACT HUBS™

Families in Orange County face a unique set of interconnected pressures that challenge student and family success. Low-wage jobs and our high cost of living can create housing instability that in turn negatively impacts academics and health. Impact Hubs are a proven model for providing assistance and producing sustainable outcomes for children, their families and the neighborhood as a whole.

Programs and services take a “two-generation” approach, tackling intergenerational poverty by aligning and coordinating programs to serve the needs of families together.

Paul Revere Elementary School in Anaheim was the first Orange County United Way Impact Hub, providing an on-site food pantry, housing and financial empowerment center, classroom technology, reading materials, after-school programs and more. Join us for the 2020 Women’s Philanthropy Fund Breakfast and help us do more.

KAREEM ABDUL-JABBAR
ATHLETE | ACTIVIST | AUTHOR

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar is the NBA’s all-time leading scorer, a six-time NBA champion and the league’s only six-time MVP. He is one of a handful of influential and respected black men in America who has a national platform as a regular contributing columnist for newspapers and magazines around the world, such as The Guardian and The Hollywood Reporter, where he shares his thoughts on some of the most socially relevant and politically controversial topics facing our nation today. After 50 years as an athlete and activist, he offers his perspectives as a nationally recognized speaker who regularly appears on the lecture circuit. He is the recipient of 2 Columnist of the Year Awards in (2017 & 2018) by the Southern California Journalism Awards.

Currently, Abdul-Jabbar serves as the chairman of his Skyhook Foundation whose mission is to “Give Kids a Shot That Can’t be Blocked” by bringing educational STEM opportunities to underserved communities through innovative outdoor environmental learning.
